

In this photo I am petting my two guinea pigs, Amber and Gypsum. Amber is on the left and Gypsum on the right. These guinea pigs represent zoology as they are living, breathing animals that had to get to understand me as I had to get to understand them. It was challenging to train and tame them, while also figuring out what steps I needed to take to care for them, but I love my guinea pigs! (also I don't know if you can see but Amber is confused by the camera and trying to get away.)
